Downing Bought Registered Bull

Brattleboro, Vt.: Neil Downing, Canyon, has recently acquired a registered Holstein-Friesian bull from the herd of Lloyd T. Winger, Jr., Trinidad, Colo.

Change of ownership for this animal, Winger Nadine Chief, has been officially recorded by The Holstein-Friesian Association of America. The Association issued 903 registry and transfer certificates to Texas breeders during 1949.

Manpower For Armed Forces Is Handicapped

Selective Service headquarters at Austin state that their work is being handicapped because registrants have not kept local boards informed as to their changes in address and their married status.

General Paul L. Wakefield is in charge of Selective Service in Texas and has issued a strong statement to local boards that registrants are to blame if Texas falls down on the quota of men sought for the armed services. Unless the men report changes of address and changes in their matrimonial status, local boards cannot reclassify the men. Hence, some men who should not go into the armed services, under present regulations, will be called up for physical examinations, and some may be drafted in order to meet the present quotas.

Ray McReynolds, Randall county member of the four-county board composed of Randall, Deaf Smith, Castro and Parmer counties, attended a meeting of the board in Hereford this week. So far there is no indication of any changes being made in Selective Service. It was thought a couple of weeks ago that Randall county would be changed out of the four-county set-up. This seems to be out of the present plans since there are so many volunteers seeking places in the armed forces.

County Agent Had 2nd Arm Operation

H. E. Shahan was in the hospital this week where he underwent a second operation on his left arm.

Bones in the arm did not set after it was broken in a car accident and he was forced to have the first operation several weeks ago. It was hoped that the second operation will correct the unfortunate condition in his arm.

County Attorney Named Monday Commissioners

The Commissioners Court named Gene McGlasson, Jr., as the new County Attorney to succeed Hayden Weaver, resigned, at the meeting of the court Monday.

Weaver filed his resignation with the court last week to become effective Tuesday.

McGlasson was nominated in the July primary to become County Attorney on January 1st. When Weaver resigned to accept a position with an Amarillo law firm, the court appointed the Democratic nominee to fill out the unexpired term.

Weaver was an unsuccessful candidate for District Attorney in the July primary. In accepting a position with an Amarillo law firm, Weaver stated that he will not move to Amarillo immediately, but will make the move in the future. McGlasson lives in South Amarillo but states that he planned to move to Canyon in the near future.

Sisters See Each Other After 53 Years

Pictured above are Mrs. W. M. Amason and her sister, Mrs. Langston Lyles of Randolph County, Alabama, whom she saw for the first time in 53 years on Tuesday, August 8.

The son and his family went on to Pike's Peak while Mr. and Mrs. Lyles remained with Mrs. Amason to visit. Mrs. Lyles, Mrs. Amason's only living sister, lives near the old home place where they grew up in Alabama.

Upon the son's return from Pike's Peak on Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Lyles left to return to Alabama. Mrs. Amason's only living brother, Mac Munkus, who lives on the family home place in Alabama, plans to visit her sometime this fall.

W. T. McGregor Takes Office of County Surveyor

Monday morning W. T. McGregor was sworn in as county surveyor. The Commissioners Court has appointed Mr. McGregor to serve the rest of this term which will expire January 1.

In the November election he will run as an independent. Mr. McGregor will continue his duties at West Texas State as director of vocational education. For further information Mr. McGregor may be reached at phone 191 or 504J.

The county has had no surveyor since the death of G. G. Foster and therefore it has been necessary to import a qualified surveyor when his services have been needed.

Lack of Rain Follows Excess Brings Weeds

A light shower fell in Canyon Monday night, but there was not enough moisture to be of benefit to the crops. Only .06 of an inch fell.

Farmers of Randall county have been asking for rain during the past few days!

In spite of all of the heavy rainfall during July, crops are suffering because of the high temperature, and lack of moisture for more than a week.

The cause is natural. There was an abnormal fall of moisture over a 30-day period, when farm work was at a standstill.

Farmers got behind with their plowing for wheat, running about two weeks behind schedule. The weeds grew rank, and the row crop could not be thinned out. If rains had continued to fall, the row crop would have made fine grain, but the dry weather has caught much of the crop too thick on the ground, and full of moisture when the rains stopped. The high temperature is having a bad effect upon the row crop, and much of it will make little or no grain.

There will be an abundance of roughness in Randall county this winter, an amount sufficient to carry all of the cattle through the winter.

Getting wheat planted for the 1951 crop is still a problem. One farmer reported that weeds were about three feet tall, and the hail damaged some of his row crop so much that he was having to plow it under. To get all of the foliage turned under presents a real problem.

"A lot of wheat will be planted in a very shabby manner," was his observation of present conditions.

Summer Recreation Will Close With Session Friday

The Canyon community recreation program will close Friday with a watermelon party for the children who have taken part in the activities throughout the summer. The party will be held at Buffalo Stadium playground on August 18 at 3:00.

The second pet show of the summer for children 12 years old and under will be sponsored then, and there will be all kinds of contests, games, movies, frog races, and egg throwing, plus watermelon for everybody.

This session will climax the new summer recreation program which has played host to over 5000 young people from Canyon and Randall County.

The parents are especially invited to attend the closing program at the Buffalo Playground.

The trophies that are to be awarded by the recreation department will be given to the winners at the Kidie Talent show on August 19, at 9:30 at the Olympic Theater. These awards are to be given to the boy and girl who have won the most awards throughout the summer program.

Prayer services will be held each morning at 10 a. m. and evening services will begin at 8 p. m.

Kenneth Wheatley Is Candidate For State Legislature

An outline of his campaign program is included in the formal announcement of Kenneth Wheatley of Amarillo who seeks the office of State Representative from Armstrong, Carson, Deaf Smith, Oldham, Potter and Randall Counties.

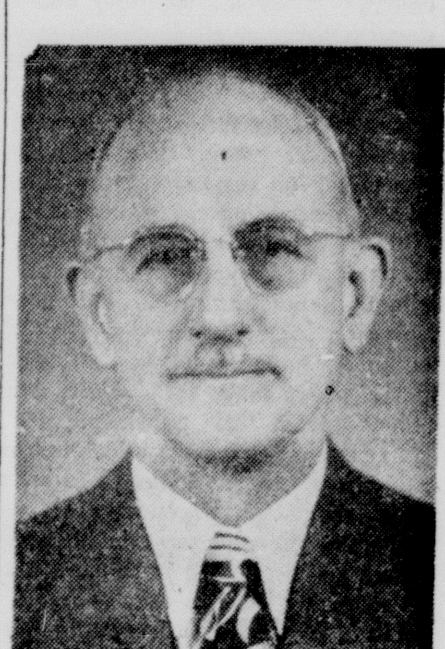

Wheatley calls his platform "Frame of the Future." In it he foresees service to agriculture, business, labor, and the consumer through good representation in the lower house. He has pointed out his basic belief that government exists to create fair opportunity for every citizen regardless of race, creed or color — to work and make a fair profit from that work. He has pounded time and again that the place to begin on taxation is to cut expenditures and oppose new appropriations. Included in his "Frame of the Future" are changes in the Veteran's Land Program which would provide funds from investors for financing the purchase of land by Texas veterans; the local control of water for irrigation by the farmer; opposition to any change in our tax structure which would reduce the incentive for business to come to Texas; and a favorable tax environment (one without any new taxes, either sales or state income tax). Upon his own experience as a member of the State Department of Education and a former official of the Veteran's Administration, he declares that "if we practice economy as well as talk economy, we can have the things we need." Among the seven main issues in our state today, Mr. Wheatley listed the needs of higher educational institutions. Among the real needs of the State is a reorganization of our higher educational institutions. Mr. Wheatley said that the reduction of needless state spending could make possible an adjustment upward in the appropriation for West Texas State College and the Panhandle Plains Historical Society Museum.

He is not in favor of the "College Amendment" which would reduce the funds available to such schools as Texas Tech or West Texas State at Canyon. The centralization of Graduate Training at the University in Austin to the exclusion of undergraduate training and the elimination of graduate training at our other colleges is to be opposed with the same vigor that any further centralization of our Federal Government should be. He declares he favors sending a man to Austin capable of standing for his people and getting the 123rd District representation now due them under the 1950 census. Wheatley, 27 years old, was born and reared in Amarillo. He was graduated from Amarillo High School and Amarillo College. He attended West Texas State College for the full summer term of 1941. He was graduated from Tulane University in 1943. He was overseas with the 25th Infantry Division and won the Medical Badge, the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star. He married Miss Beverly Ball of Amarillo. Mrs. Wheatley is a former cheer leader for the West Texas State Buffaloes. She attended West Texas State College in 1942-1943. Mr. Wheatley's grandfather, R. R. Wheatley, was a cowboy in the early times of the T-Ancor Ranch.

Neighbors Of Meade Griffin Line Up For Him

MEADE GRIFFIN

Plainview: Friends of Judge Meade F. Griffin in the 64th Judicial District, in which he served and practiced law for more than a quarter of a century, are eager to see West Texans turn out in large numbers August 26 and give him a typically enthusiastic West Texas boost.

His homefolks in Hale County gave him 4,234 votes to 256 for his three opponents in the first primary. His margin in surrounding counties was almost as great. He had a substantial lead over his nearest opponent.

Since the first primary, the Dallas Morning News, published where Judge Griffin's lone remaining opponent lives, has endorsed Judge Griffin on the basis of his qualification for office. Even before that endorsement, in Dallas Judge Griffin received in the first primary 11,707 votes to his opponent's 13,659. Over 80% of the Dallas lawyers endorsed Griffin, and about 7% endorsed his present opponent, prior to the first primary.

He was the choice of the greatest number of Texans in the first primary.

Griffin served in both World Wars, is 56 years of age, and except when with the colors has been engaged in active law practice for 25 years.

Griffin seeks his first elective term. Since he accepted appointment by the late Governor Jester, gave up a fine law practice, and has satisfactorily filled the position for 15 months, it seems only reasonable to his home town friends that he be elected for a full term.

August Primary at Legion Hall in Precinct 1

Voters of Precinct No. 1 will again vote at the American Legion Hall for the August primary.

Various places have been tried for elections, the Legion Hall is the best suited as a voting place, with ample room, good light, and facilities to take care of a large crowd.

Company F will be away at the annual training camp, and therefore there will be no danger of interference with the vote from that standpoint.

The game room of the Legion will be closed during the day to provide adequate space for all of the election workers.

Old Draft Law Is Out of the Picture

Selective Service headquarters at Austin says that it is being swamped with requests of men past 40 years to change their addresses. They registered for World War II.

Only men who were born on or after August 30, 1922, are required to register.

Men who have reached their 18th birthday are required to register within five days of their birthdays.

Ray McReynolds is the Randall county representative of Selective Service, and local boys may register with him, or at headquarters in Hereford.

The show has been very popular, and a number of large groups plan to attend before the end of the run. Starting Sunday night, "The Drunkard" will be staged. This will run through Labor Day. Attendance at the Palo Duro State Park during the last week was 3,116. During the present year the attendance has been 80,573, with 20,401 cars entering the Park. Walter Wood of Stephenville was winner of the oil painting given Sunday afternoon. A $350 diamond ring will be the special attendance prize for the coming Sunday.

Half of Nation; and Half of Church Members Do Not Attend

It has been generally recognized for many years that the people of America are ignoring their church obligations.

To be sure there are the usual faithful few who never miss church service. There are a few denominations which are taking their obligations and opportunities seriously and are going out after members. There are some churches which are trying to live up to their opportunities of seeking to reach those who have strayed from the fold, or have never been members.

It has been recognized for many, many years that not more than half of the American people are church members; and furthermore, that fully half of those who have their names on the church rolls never attend church. They are too busy doing something else, or doing nothing at all at church service time.

Why this situation? Frankly we have no idea. However, we will give you one of the reasons for this lack of interest on the part of the public, which should be corrected. We are convinced that a vigorous policy on the part of the churches would have a good influence on church attendance.

If you will look over the news columns of The Canyon News you will probably not find a single church announcement in this issue. This has been going on for many months. The churches of Canyon certainly have something attractive for their members, or for those who would like to attend church. They fail in their publicity.

There are two firms which put out attractive church advertising pages, designed to influence people to be more religious. Practically all of the major newspapers of the state use one of these services, at a considerable cost to the publisher. Business men support these pages because they want to be counted as interested in the welfare of the churches of their communities.

Are any churches represented on these pages? In very rare instances the names of one or more churches of a community are listed. For the most part the churches have taken the position that they will not participate, because it costs a few dollars per issue to have their names carried or being interested in the moral uplift of the community.

The churches of America have an aggressive job ahead of them if they are to be counted upon to carry out their mission of saving America for Christ.

Randall County Should Have an Increased Number Votes Aug. 26

The second primary will be held on August 26th. This is the day on which we shall decide as to whether we shall finish up the job of electing our state and local officials for the coming term of office—or just let nature take its course and permit some one else to do our voting for us.

Randall county made a rather poor showing in the first primary. Only 2553 votes were cast out of a possible 4000. About 1500 persons decided that they did not need to go to the polls.

There is no use scolding about the situation, because folks who won't vote simply will not take the time to go to the polls, regardless of the urgent need for action.

We hope that more of you will take the time on August 26th to go and vote. It would be a fine thing if Randall county would turn out at least 3000 strong in the coming primary election.

Hysteria of Buying Needless Items Seems to be Running Out

Buying hysteria seems to be subsiding. The presence of plenty has whipped the buying spree. Except in a few instances there is no use to become alarmed about running out of necessary goods.

The Canyon News has not played up the buying spree, simply because we thought it would be of short duration. While the government realizes we have a war on our hands, there seems to be the indication of careful preparation, rather than a speed of needless hysteria.

Those who rushed out and bought a lot of things which they did not need are largely responsible for increased prices. The threat of price control, and roll-backs will probably hold in check further hoarding. Let us hope so, and all determine to buy only those things which we need, as we need them.

Thanks Again for All of the Fine Sentiments on Anniversary

We intended filling this space with the kind letters and telegrams we have received regarding our 40th Anniversary as publisher of The Canyon News. We had plenty of material, but other things have come up which are urgent in nature.

At least, we want to take this opportunity of again thanking you, and you, and all of you who have made this such a pleasant event in our lives.

We had just about thrown in the sponge and declared that we were too old to be running a weekly newspaper, but the shot in the arm given by your kind, very, very kind, response to our anniversary celebration has convinced us that we shall go on, and on.

(We may feel differently after this issue, which is being produced short handed because of vacations).

Short Ballot Will Help Voters To Select Favorite Candidates

Sometime folks do not go to the polls because of the long ballot which confronts them in the first primary election, and the large, blanket-sized ballots which they must handle in the November election.

Those who object to the size of the ballot will have a field day on August 26th. There are only eight offices to be filled, and only two candidates for each race. There will be no write-in campaigns in this election.

The most important race is for Lieutenant Governor of Texas. The two candidates are Ben Ramsey of San Augustine county and Pierce Brooks of Dallas county. Ramsey has served in both the House and the Senate, and has been Secretary of State. This gives him the distinct advantage of knowing more public people than his opponent.

Brooks has made three state-wide races; always led in the first primary, and then been defeated in the second primary. He charges that Ramsey has never voted against the mounting cost of government while in the legislature; and coming from East Texas that he has fallen into the group which would defeat a just redistricting bill. Brooks has the distinct disadvantage of coming from Dallas, with three other Dallas men in the runoff.

For the first time in his 16 years as Commissioner of Agriculture, J. E. McDonald has an opponent in the runoff. John C. White of Wichita county faces McDonald, and indications are that old Mac has a race on his hands. A lot of folks just naturally are opposed to any one who has ever voted the Republican ticket, and McDonald brags about having supported every Republican candidate for President since Hoover.

For the Court of Criminal Appeals we have Robert L. Lattimore of Dallas county and W. A. Morrison of Milam county. Again Dallas county has an entry, and sentiment seems to be away from the Big D man.

In spite of the fact that Will Wilson of Dallas county led in the race for Associate Justice, place 1, on the Supreme Court, there is a decided swing in favor of Fagan Dickson of Bexar county. The two big towns are fighting it out in this race.

For place 3 on the Supreme Court, we are decidedly in favor of Meade Griffin of Hale county as opposed to George Harwood of Dallas county. We have been for Griffin from the start, as he now holds a place on the Supreme Court, while Harwood is the county judge of Dallas county. We hold no prejudice against Dallas county for being able to place four candidates in the run-off primary out of five state races. Big D is the financial center of Texas, and has always tried to be the political center. Because of the prejudice which is being developed by candidates in all of the races against Dallas we shall not be surprised to see all four of the Dallas candidates trail in the August 26th vote.

This brings us down to the district races and one county race.

Perhaps there are few voters in Randall county who have not seen Altavene Clark and Walter Rogers, the two candidates for Congress. Both have gone through the special election in May; the July Democratic primary, and are now up for the runoff primary. Mrs. Clark has led all Democrats in the two previous primaries. We have learned from observation that being the leader in the first primary counts for little in the final runoff. However, we are greatly impressed with two factors which have been the determining elements in this campaign: Altavene Clark has a most attractive personality, and is a forceful campaigner; she gets around to see the voters, and makes a favorable impression; her experience in Washington is to her benefit. On the other hand Walter Rogers is a more forceful speaker, and being the underdog in this campaign he has the sympathy of many voters. We shall not be surprised as to the results, no matter which candidate wins. We believe that Altavene Clark will have a better chance to win against Republican Congressman Ben Guill than would his fellow townsman, Walter Rogers. We are still convinced that the November election will be no pushover for either candidate.

We have two young lawyers running for the legislature, Morris G. Cobb and Kenneth K. Wheatley. Cobb has made the more aggressive campaign, but Wheatley has a large group who are actively supporting him. Cobb led in the first primary, and knows more voters. Wheatley has disregarded the age-old theory that publicity counts in a district campaign, and is relying upon personal contacts.

The two top candidates in the write-in campaign for Tax Assessor and Collector paid their fees to get on the August primary ballot and therefore you will not be troubled by trying to remember to vote for this office when you go to the polls on August 26th. These are two local men, both well known—Bill Money and W. B. Campbell. Be sure to go to the polls and make your final selection between these two candidates.

10 base load power plants are operated by your Public Service Company to meet your needs for dependable, low-cost electric service. These 10 power plants are strategically placed approximately 100 miles apart.

These 10 great power plants are tied together by a 2700-mile network of transmission lines. The heart of our system—a 115,000-volt transmission line—makes electric power generated at our Riverview plant available at Carlsbad, New Mexico, if needed.

To further assure you a continuous and economical supply of electricity, your Public Service Company has provided a central load-dispatching center which allocates generation to each plant for most economical operation. In this manner the local area plant is still able to meet increased demand for electric service within its own area when necessary.

To meet your growing needs for electric power, important 1950 plant expansions will be made at Amarillo and Moore County, and a new unit has already gone on the line at Roswell. Yes, your Public Service Company is on the job keeping ahead of the rapid growth of the Panhandle-Plains-Pecos-Valley area.

Veterinarian Describes Tension in Cattle Blood

Modern "magicians" washing powders make mountains of suds for the same reason that pastures sometimes give a cow a mammoth stomach-ache.

It's largely a matter of "surface tension," the American Veterinary Medical association was told at its national convention in Detroit by Dr. A. E. Quinn, a veterinarian of Kansas City, Mo.

Dr. Quinn explained it this way: "If you toss some of the new detergent washing powders into water and agitate it, a great mass of foam develops because the powder decreases the surface tension of the water and the air is then entrapped by films of the detergent."

A like tension occurs when a cow eats heavily on high-moisture legumes and grasses containing saprophytes. Surface tension of the stomach contents is reduced, and muscular agitation of the stomach walls then creates a foam of carbon dioxide, methane, hydrogen sulfide and other gases.

Soap suds are fine, but a case of bloat can be serious. So, Dr. Quinn said, veterinary medical scientists have developed new chemical agents to increase surface tension, and these agents are being used effectively in treatment of bloat.

"One of the most efficient types of these new chemicals is called methyl silicone," Dr. Quinn said. "Tanners and liquid suspensions of methyl silicones were supplied to veterinarians. Reports on treatment of 175 cases of cattle bloat show 133 successful recoveries—a quite outstanding record."

Over 2000 Frog Species Are Scattered Over World

"Dendrobates" has hit the frog. The London zoo, in its annual inventory, now rates the specimens in its frog and toad collection at three pentads (five canals), compared with the specimens of last year's tally.

At either three or six, the low price indicates how common the common frog is, the National Geographic society observes. The enterprising small boy can assemble this amateur zoo of neighborhood types almost as easily as the biggest collectors.

There are about 2,000 different species of the frog and toad family known as tailless amphibians—that is, adapted to both water and land. They are scattered over the tropical and temperate world except in spots where it is too dry.

Of the dozens of frog species in the United States, the spotted leopard-frog, so widely used in biology classes, is the most common east of the Rockies. The deep-voiced bullfrog, the piping spring-peeper, the brilliant green frog, and the colorful wood-frog are among other pop-eyed denizens of American streams and marshes whose curious change from the streamlined swimming tadpole into the hopping, singing frog is one of nature's most fascinating processes.

How Seismograph Operates

A seismograph detects earthquakes in this way. If you put a coin on a sheet of paper on a table and suddenly pull the paper away, the coin will not move with it but will drop to the table. The main part of a seismograph is a massive pendulum which similarly resists movement, even though the ground may move under it, according to G. H. research scientists. This relative motion between ground and pendulum is magnified (in modern instruments by electrical and optical means) and recorded on photographic paper. The seismograph may be tuned so that it will respond to the relatively slow waves in the earth, with periods of several seconds, that come from distant earthquakes, but not to the larger and more rapid vibrations from local traffic or nearby explosion.

Heated Highways

Heated highways have been tried successfully in several sections of the country. In Oregon, a highway underpass, which would be particularly dangerous under icy conditions, was equipped with pipes laid under the pavement through which an anti-freeze solution heated by hot springs in the vicinity was circulated. Near Detroit, the Michigan highway department installed electric heating units each 18 inches wide, under the tire tracks of a six lane highway for a distance of 500 feet. Initial experiments showed the per hour cost of the de-icing operation to be about $1 per hour.

Light Reflectance of Colors

When selecting paint for the walls or ceiling of a room, it is wise to take the light reflecting powers of various colors into consideration. White reflects 70-90 per cent of the light that falls upon it; black, only 1 to 4 per cent. In between come the ivories and creams, with a reflectance of 50-70 per cent, the light yellows with 60-65 per cent, the light greens with 40-50 per cent. The medium blues come next with 15-20 per cent, while the dark blues follow with 5-10 per cent. The reds, maroons, medium and dark browns reflect only 3-15 per cent of the light that falls upon them.

Museum Determines Value of Pictures By X-Ray Methods

NEW YORK—Every year hundreds of people throughout the country dig old pictures out of their attics and many of their finds are taken to the Brooklyn Museum's restoration department to determine their value.

Fifty percent of the "masterpieces" examined by the museum are found to be practically worthless.

The restoration service is offered at cost, Sheldon Keck, head of the department, reports. The charge ranges from $8 to as high as $100 a painting, depending on the amount of work involved.

"People think an X-ray will tell them everything about a picture, but it's not so simple as that," he said. Technical evidence must be weighed together with stylistic analysis and a historical study of the picture.

The department has some strange requests, too. A delicate situation was presented by a man who wanted to find out if the clothing in a portrait of a woman had been added after the picture was originally completed. The man's fiancée, an artist's model, had given him the picture after telling him she had never posed in the nude. The museum reported laconically that the costume was of a later date than the rest of the picture and discreetly closed the case.

Even the most exhaustive study will sometimes produce only negative results, Keck reports. Recent tests of a picture said to be Raphael disclosed that one of the colors used was Prussian blue, a pigment unknown until 200 years after Raphael's death. The identity of the real artist is still a mystery.

In considering modern works of art, the artist himself is not to be trusted always. Renoir once swore he was not the painter of one of his own pictures. The painting had been stolen and the artist did not want the thief to profit by it.

A forged Picasso of the artist's "blue period" was an exception. X-rays showed the picture was painted over an abstraction. Picasso's "blue period" is known to have preceded his abstract painting. The artist later bore out the evidence by denying he had ever seen the picture before it was submitted to him.

Penny Postcard Pays Fine For Student Now in France

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Andre Michel, Paris, France, was arrested recently for speeding. A week later the Cambridge district court received a post card signed by Michel in which he said he was sorry he couldn't be in court because he was on his way to France.

The card added: "I would like you to excuse me, I apologize and wish you a happy summer." Judge Arthur P. Stone said with a smile, "I guess it wouldn't be very economical to extradite him."

Michel was a student at Harvard university.

Two Steamboats for Sale, But No One Will Buy Them

CINCINNATI, O.—The days of the old steamboat are definitely gone. Two of them have been tied up at the Cincinnati wharf for some time with for sale signs tacked on them, but there have been no takers.

They are the Chris Greene and Tom Greene, which had been gathering rust and dust in Louisville, Kentucky, for several years. Coal and labor costs have about put the steamboats out of commission. Those operating today were built during World War II and screw propelled and burn oil.

The last of the packets, small ones at that, have no one interested in them because like railroads, the boat lines have found the diesel engines more economical.

The Greene Line, which owns the boats, runs two excursion steamers, the Gordon Greene and the Delta Queen. They haul no freight and are not properly packets, although once used as such.

Drunk Falls on Tracks; Unharmed by Passing Train

NEWARK, N. J.—Two worried policemen saw Patrick Nicholl stagger into the Pennsylvania railroad yards, fall between a set of tracks and lay there as a long string of freight cars sped over him.

He got up, nonchalantly dusted off his clothes and weaved into the arms of the waiting patrolmen. He was booked on a charge of loitering while under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

Communists Order Actresses To Cover 'Upper Thighs'

BERLIN—East German Communists have informed actresses in their zone to cover up the "upper thighs" and their busts.

German Week, a communist edited newspaper, printed a picture of an American girl in a bathing suit with the caption: "What our actresses should not become."

Americans measure the artistic worth of their entertainers by the measurement of their bust and the circumference of their upper thighs, the newspaper said.

Moisture Needs of Trees, Plants, Shrubs, Explained

Every tree around your home needs 100 gallons or more of water per day, because that is the approximate amount that is evaporated from the leaves.

Many people water plants only by the sprinkling of a hose. After a few moments the ground looks wet but it is only on the surface. An inch below, the ground will probably be bone dry, as anyone would find if the soil is turned over with a spade or trowel.

It is the moisture farther down in the soil that gives the real benefit to shrubs, trees, and other plants, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

If there are no local restrictions against using a garden hose during drought periods, the nozzle of the hose should be taken off and the water should be allowed to run in around the plant slowly long enough really to get down to the roots. This is especially true of shrubs and trees which have been planted recently and haven't had time to develop a large, strong network of roots.

To save both water and work the use of mulches is important after watering. In addition to prepared mulches, one simple mulch which can be used consists of grass clippings. An inch of sawdust provides another good mulch. Peat-moss is one of the more popular mulches.

Few people realize the enormous amount of moisture which plants need. The water is absorbed by the roots, is lifted up through the trunk and branches of a tree, then through the leaves, and finally is evaporated out into the air.

Better Acoustics for Home To Be Demanded by Public

In 20 years your radio cabinet probably will be about as obsolete as a wood-burning cook stove, according to Dr. Howard C. Hardy, supervisor of acoustics and vibrations research at Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology.

Dr. Hardy believes that radio sound systems will be built into the walls of houses within the near future and will become as much a part of any building as plumbing and electrical wiring.

"People are beginning to demand better sound reproduction and better acoustics in their homes," Dr. Hardy said.

Architects, construction engineers, and the public in general are becoming increasingly aware that sound and sound reproduction are as important considerations in construction as are the other utilities. Radios, phonographs, and television units are becoming as essential in a home as a refrigerator.

Dr. Hardy, one of the nation's leading authorities on sound in general and acoustics in particular, believes that better sound reproduction and acoustics are not now common in American homes and other structures simply because the public hasn't demanded them. "And the public hasn't so far demanded them because very few people have ever really heard good sound reproduction except in a certain few theaters and auditoriums," he said.

Paint Tree Sprouts

Volunteer trees that come up in fence rows and other places where they are not wanted cause trouble by sprouting up after they are cut off. Grubbing them is expensive and inconvenient. A certain and economical method of killing them is to cut the tree off near the ground and paint the cut surface of the stump, wetting it liberally, immediately after cutting with a mixture of one part 2-D-4 acid to three to six parts diesel fuel, says J. W. Lallinley of Kansas State college. This is equivalent to one part of 40 per cent ester to about two to two parts diesel fuel.

Rotary Clubs

On February 16, 1949, there were 6,687 Rotary clubs in 79 countries and geographical regions with a membership of 323,000 business and professional executives. On that date, there were 3,994 clubs in the United States of America; 835 in Latin America; 649 in Great Britain and Ireland; 541 in continental Europe, Northern Africa and the Eastern Mediterranean region; 243 in Canada; 147 in Asia and 278 in other parts of the world.

Platinum in Early Days

"Unripe gold," Indians of the Andes highlands scornfully called platinum in the days of the Spanish conquistadores. They threw the supposedly inferior metal back into the streams to ripen. Men were hanged in South America and Tsarist Russia for attempting to substitute it for silver and gold. Even early United States gold pieces were counterfeited in platinum.

For Home Painters

On opening a new can of paint, pour out excessive liquid and then gradually stir it back into the original can until all ingredients are thoroughly mixed. Don't paint new plaster with oil paint for 30 days. Don't fail to allow plenty of drying time. Don't fill you brush too full. "Be Paint-wise."

Boys' Ranch Was Presented at the Lions Luncheon

Lion Bill Sternberg presided at the regular Lion's Club meeting, Wednesday, Aug. 2. Cal Farley, president of the board of directors, Boys Ranch gave an interesting discussion on the progress being made at the Ranch. He gave numerous examples of cases they had helped, and stated that most of these boys turn around and make good citizens when given a chance, and that the Ranch is experiencing a great success with them.

Boys Ranch started in 1939 in an abandoned courthouse in what was formerly the wild west town of Tascosa, located 40 miles Northwest of Amarillo on the banks of the Canadian River. It is governed by a board of directors comprised of business and professional men who are interested in helping boys.

They now have 128 boys from 22 states. The 500 boys who have been at Boys Ranch since the beginning, came from every state in the Union.

The Ranch continues to grow because of public acceptance. It has been financed through voluntary contributions from the public.

Boys from 7 to 17 years of age stay at the Ranch the year around, going to school, doing chores, farm work and other maintenance work. They have their own school and a full sports program with teams in all sports; also their own chapel where the boys can attend services of their faith.

Dr. Held Talked to Graduate Club on War in Far East

One of the most masterful lectures of the summer was given before the Graduate Club on Tuesday evening, August 8, by Dr. Colbert C. Held, head of the Geography Department of West Texas State College.

Dr. Held chose as his subject, "A Geographer Looks at the War in Asia." Through authoritative discussion and the use of the map, he pointed out that Eurasia is in reality a "world island" and that her "Heart Land" is cut off from invasion by land or sea. He emphasized the importance of "The Rimland" in which area approximately three-fifths of the world's population lives. He insisted that Americans not direct their attention too far from Western Europe.

The large gathering of graduates were enthusiastic in their expressions of appreciation to Dr. Held. Mr. Perry Mooring and his committee served ice cream.

Marshall Plan of Ideas Made As Future Aim

Should the United States go in for an aggressive "Marshall plan of ideas" to implement its material assistance to the Western world? Senator Benton of Connecticut, who has been urging this move in Congress, thinks so and his belief is shared by a great many people who are gravely disturbed by the success of Russia's high-powered propaganda.

The masters of the Kremlin are thorough. They have pressed ahead in the cold war with weapons, with what amounts to blackmail on a high international level, and they have been clever and efficient in using their satellites as instruments of conquest. They have developed well trained undergrounds everywhere, including the United States, whose duty is to advance the cause of communism by every conceivable means—including, in the event of all-out war, sabotage and destruction on a far broader scale than most Americans seem to be able to contemplate. The evidence in this regard which the FBI has painstakingly gathered over the years, some of which was recently made public, shows that the Politburo leaves no stone unturned. And, in addition, the Russians regard propaganda as one of the most important of all weapons, and are acting accordingly.

In one of his late columns, Marquis Childs described the pattern of Soviet propaganda in Germany. He wrote, "Basic elements in this pattern are the petitions for peace and against the atomic bomb being circulated by the millions in both zones of Germany. These same petitions were signed by several million north Koreans beginning in 1947 when they were first introduced on orders of Moscow."

"The objective is clear. It is to identify communism with peace and to put the United States in the role of aggressor, holding the terror weapon of the atomic bomb over the heads of peace-loving peoples everywhere. If and when the United States should resort to the atomic weapon—then the base would be prepared to foment a world-wide hatred of America and Americans."

It may seem absurd to Americans that the Russians can succeed with this propaganda line. But according to men who are in the best position to know they are succeeding. The Western nations, it is true, have beaten the communists in all postwar elections. But in many the communist vote has been heavy—and the communist minority is undoubtedly far better organized, and forms a far more cohesive whole, than its opposition.

In a recent speech, William C. Bullitt, who was an Ambassador to said, "In Italy, more than 20 per cent of the workmen are unemployed, and the Communists, who gathered one-third of the votes at the last elections, are gaining in strength. In France, the government is far weaker than any French government before the Second World War, and its entire apparatus is riddled with communists. Even the head of French atomic research is a communist."

Situations such as this are not, of course, the result of Soviet propaganda alone. But that propaganda has been and is a powerful factor. Hence the growing interest in a "Marshall plan of ideas" through which we would tell the world the truth as we see it.

Public Schools Are Improved as Result G-A Law

Austin: Texas' already vastly improved public school system will be on an even higher level during the 1950-51 school year it was predicted here today.

More classroom facilities and more and better trained teachers will be available, it was pointed out by L. P. Sturgeon, state associate commissioner of education.

Under the new Gilmer-Aiken laws which went into effect last fall the teaching staff was increased by 2,000 and more than half of the school districts of the state added to their classroom facilities.

An additional 1,500 teachers will be hired for the next school year, Sturgeon said. A survey disclosed many more schools will increase their facilities, Sturgeon also said.

Increase in pay for teachers has added to their morale and made the profession far more attractive to young people, Sturgeon pointed out. More young people are preparing for careers as teachers and these better trained instructors will be available in larger numbers next year to replace retiring instructors and those less adequately trained, according to Sturgeon.

School districts which met the requirements of state law in order to receive additional financial aid from the state had a teacher for every twenty-five pupils in average daily attendance during the last school year, but many districts were forced to put pupils on a half-time basis.

"This will be partly alleviated during the 1950-51 school year by the construction of more classrooms and the availability of more teachers," Sturgeon said.

"This will add to the great benefits derived by a great many of our school children in the last school term through their being in smaller classes, where they could get more personal attention.

"During the 1948-49 school year a survey conducted by the Texas State Teachers Association disclosed that more than half of the classrooms in the entire state were badly over-crowded."

Sturgeon also had high praise for the state's teachers.

"While the pay increases under the Gilmer-Aiken laws averaged only $500 for teachers, their morale is at the highest in the history of Texas," he said.

"I can see that in their interest in and their attendance at professional meetings I have attended throughout the entire state.

"Superintendents are almost unanimous in their reports of the willingness of teachers to accept additional assignments and to participate in extra-curricular activities.

"Teachers are satisfied and are proud of their profession. That means better education for our children in rooms presided over by well-trained instructors. It is only reasonable that happy, efficient teachers can do far more in imparting knowledge than dissatisfied, inefficient persons.

Increased enrollment in courses leading to degrees in education in the state's colleges was also pointed to by Sturgeon as an indication of the attractiveness of the teaching profession in Texas schools now, with its resulting benefits to the children.

PUTTING IT SOFTLY

"I've got a little job I'm dreading," remarked a genealogist to a friend. "Rich Mrs. Williams engaged me to look up her family tree and I find that one of her family was electrocuted for murder."

"Aw, don't let that bother you," comforted the friend. "Just describe the man as having occupied the chair of applied electricity at one of our large public institutions."

Dwight E. Eisenhower, President, Columbia University: "By no juggling of words or twisting of ideas can a citizen of this country justify an alliance with the forces of dictatorship and Communist enslavement."

One of those scenes was going on uptown where a guy is standing on a ledge of a building and everybody is waiting for him to jump. Finally a cop gets near him at a window and tries to argue him out of it. "Think of your wife," says the cop. "That's why I'm jumping." "Think of all your friends." "I hate every so-and-so I know." "Then think of your own happiness. Think of all the good meals you can enjoy—the fun you can have—the ball games you can see. Wouldn't you like to see the Giants play again?" "I hate the Giants." Committee on D. P. Reports on Work Done Thus Far

At eleven o'clock Friday morning the Committee on the work of Delayed Pilgrims met in the City Hall to transact business. The time has come for those who have not yet contributed to the D. P. fund and wish to do so, to send their contributions to the D. P. fund at the First National Bank or to any member of the committee. The Council of Church Women meets the latter part of August, and it is desirable for this committee, which is a unit of the Council, to have as good a report as possible.

One family of three, the Paegle family, is happily situated in the gray stucco building back of Stafford Hall. Mr. Paegle works on the campus of the college. His wife is busy learning English, caring for her home, and occasionally writing for publication.

Mr. and Mrs. Hegdus have been working in the Neblett Hospital, but has accepted work in Amarillo in a cabinet shop. Mr. Hegdus is a trained cabinet-maker and is happy to have obtained congenial employment this early.

Mr. and Mrs. Salins have taken the work in the Neblett Hospital formerly done by the Hegduses. The Salins family have been in Canyon only a few days, and are unfamiliar with the English language. The Paegle family are glad to welcome fellow countrymen and have found several ways to help make the new family feel at home. They have shared their shower gifts, and Rolands has been useful as an interpreter.

The committee: Mrs. Bryan McDonald, Miss M. Moss Richardson, Mrs. Richard Gidden, Mrs. Joseph Findley, Dr. Pies Harper, Mrs. Marion Higdon, and C. R. Burrow—as well as the D. P. families are grateful to the town for its generosity and understanding in forwarding the enterprise.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Whitson returned Saturday from a vacation in New Mexico and Colorado. They spent Saturday night in the J. W. Wesley home and took Jimmy Don and Darla Ann, who had spent the week with their grandparents, home with them on Sunday.

Vesta Amerson visited Friday evening with her family and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Amerson and Coye Jean from Eloy, Arizona.

Mrs. E. M. Wilson, Ervin Charles and Darrell left Saturday to go see Mr. Wilson who is taking treatments in Marlin and to visit Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Wilson in San Antonio.

NATURALLY

An award for aggressiveness and ingenuity in the mercantile field goes to the individual who launched the bold style in men's plaid caps and hats. Naturally an award for courage automatically goes to the wearer.

O. V. Wells, chief, Bureau of Agricultural Economist: "The need will be for a twenty to twenty-five per cent increase in our total agricultural production in the next quarter of a century."

Clement L. Atlee, British Prime Minister: "The fire that has been started in distant Korea may burn your house."

Alfred C. Meeks, soldier fighting in Korea: "I got tired of riding a tractor and I wasn't very good in school, so I enlisted."

Harry P. Byrd, U. S. Senator from Virginia: "We have permitted ourselves to be involved in civil war throughout the world and to exhaust our resources, regiment and tax our people."

Unidentified General, in Korea, commanding U. S. troops at Chingju: "We had hell kicked out of us this morning."

Officer MacArthur's headquarters, at Tokyo: "The theory of 'tank country' is a snare and a delusion. Any country is tank country."

Nehru's backing of U. N. on Korea is called courageous.

SECURITY

The Senate has given final congressional approval to a bill clamping strong security controls on the nation's waterfronts, to prevent atomic-bomb carrying-vessels from slipping into American ports. The Coast Guard has the powers to search foreign vessels and control their movement in U. S. ports, with the right to remove crew members considered subversive and dangerous to this country. Actually, an inspection program already has been set up in most American ports.

SUGAR

The Agriculture Department has announced that the United States has arranged to buy Cuba's entire reserve stock of sugar, 600,000 short tons. This will give this country the largest stock of sugar in its history by more than a half million tons. The total available for consumption in 1950 is 8,450,000 tons as compared with the peak consumption achieved last year of 7,500,000 tons.

WHAT IS NECESSARY

A sound economy is up to the constituents. The politicians soon will fall in line if the people let them know that further debt is an inflationary threat to all of us.

Cherokee Chiefs Worried About Tribe Illiteracy

DALEBORO, Okla. — Cherokee leaders are greatly worried about illiteracy in the tribe. As a result leaders are urging the founding of a non-profit organization to promote the education, cultural development and rehabilitation of the Cherokees in Oklahoma.

The Cherokee conception of literacy implies an acquaintance with both the Cherokee and English languages.

At the time Debits first set foot in America, the Cherokees were a prosperous people, located in the lower Appalachian region. Their social and political institutions were well developed.

After the white man settled in the east, they acquired line stock, planted cotton, purchased slaves, accepted Christianity, built churches and schools, drew up written constitutions and formulated their own legal codes.

Trail of Tears

Severed put his native language into writing and the tribe acquired a two-way literacy.

The Cherokees were becoming more and more firmly established as instruments in the economic development of the south when Andrew Jackson ordered them to clear out to make way for the whites.

Their "Trail of Tears" led west and thousands of displaced Americans were on the march to what is now Oklahoma.

At the end of the trail they again set up their own school system. The first public school law in the new country was enacted by the Cherokees in 1825. It provided for the establishing of English language schools. One of their leaders, John Ross, proposed legislation providing for two seminaries, one for males and one for females.

Their doors were opened in 1826 and the western Cherokees were ready to resume their cultural march.

More than 800 alumni of these two schools held a reunion recently. The session's topical note was expressed by Chief W. W. Eather who pointed out that until comparatively recent years nearly every member of the tribe could read and write the Cherokee language. A majority could read and write English.

Most Progressive Tribe

He attributed the situation today to the fact that the government had discouraged the teaching of the Cherokee language and had frowned on the printing of newspapers or other publications in Cherokee.

"The government," he declared, "did not want us to continue living with our own culture but they failed to replace it. The result is that today many children of full blood do not speak English and therefore find a language problem in school."

He then called for the founding of the non-profit organization to promote education.

The Cherokees have been called the most progressive of all American Indian tribes. Men and women of Cherokee blood, notably the late Senator Robert L. Owen, have risen to places of leadership in political, cultural and industrial fields.

Blind Child Grows Large Strawberry for Princess

EAST GRINSTEAD, England — Six-year-old Roger Williams, heard that Princess Margaret was going to visit the East Grinthead home for children where he lived.

Roger is blind, but he wanted to give the princess a worthy gift. He decided to make her a gift of the biggest, reddest, sweetest strawberry ever raised in East Grinthead from his own little garden patch.

He put up a fearsome scarecrow to guard his plants and covered them with netting to make sure the birds couldn't get them.

When the princess arrived Roger asked anxiously, "Do you like strawberries?"

"I love them," she said.

Carefully Roger pulled away the netting and picked his prize strawberry. He wrapped it in a leaf and gave it to the princess.

"I knew it would be ready in time," he said happily.

The princess patted Roger's head, thanked him and walked on, carrying the biggest, reddest, sweetest strawberry ever raised in East Grinthead.

TO KEEP YOUR ENGINE HEALTHY

Change FILTER ELEMENTS Regularly

Diagrammatic sketch showing filtering operation

The oil filter on your McCormick-Deering tractor protects the engine against wear caused by dirty oil. But unless the filter element is periodically replaced its purpose is defeated and no protection results. For your engine's sake... and the sake of your tractor investment... be sure to renew the filter element each time you change oil. Remember, the new-style "umbrella" element keeps oil clean and your engine protected for 120 hours of hard use (100 hours for Diesel engines). Take home a supply of these protective elements the next time you are in town.

HOW THE "UMBRELLA" FILTER ELEMENT WORKS

The element is made of two large sheets of special creped, impregnated cellulose—accordion-folded to form a double-walled cylinder. Oil from the crankcase is pumped under pressure into the filter housing where it completely envelopes the element. The oil is forced through tiny pores in the element and all sludge and dirt is retained on the outer surfaces. The clean oil passes down between the two sheets and goes back to the crankcase.

Woman Develops Full Time Business From Make-Believe Trees

ST. LOUIS—Mrs. Henry C. Carpenter was disgusted with the make-believe miniature trees that her husband purchased to use on his model train set—and it led to a thriving business.

Mr. Carpenter bought some make-believe trees to add a realistic touch to his layout. "They were just awful," his wife said. "They weren't realistic. You could spot them as phonies a mile off and they crumbled if you did more than stare at them."

As a result, Mrs. Carpenter threw the trees in the ash can and went out in the country looking for material to make better ones. He brought home several plant varieties.

By trial-and-error method she eventually made some trees that did the trick. Pretty soon she found herself making all sorts of scale-model miniatures, including shrubs, flowers, scenic background and tunnels.

Model-train hobbyists were impressed with the results and urged her to go into business. She did by selling some of them her work on the spot. Then she went to local dealers and got quite a few orders.

Three years later, Mrs. Carpenter finds herself with a full-time business, a shop in her back yard shed. So far she has sold 50,000 miniatures.

The secret of her success is a liquid preservative into which she dips her handmade products. The liquid is a secret which she will not disclose.

Mrs. Carpenter reports that others beside model railroaders are beginning to show interest in her work.

Architects are starting to buy them for model projects and they're even being used with doll houses, she reports.

Right now she is busy getting lined up for the next Christmas season rush.

"I have even put Henry to work," Mrs. Carpenter said. "He isn't bad—for a man, that is."

Deputy Wants Bathing Suit Banned to Egyptian Women

CAIRO, Egypt—If Mohamed El Karmi Bey has his way, no Egyptian woman will be seen in a bathing suit or arm in arm with her husband.

He made a motion in the Egyptian chamber of deputies that all women over 16 years be forbidden to appear in bathing suits or to mix with men on beaches, or to walk arm in arm with their husbands in the streets.

He also expressed the opinion that women's clothes should cover their whole body, except the face and hands, and should not mold figures tightly.

Child Travels 1,800 Miles Alone; Unworried by Trip

CHICAGO, Ill.—Six-year-old Carol Berg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Berg of near Chicago, completed a 1,800 mile bus trip alone and was calm and unworried when there was no one on hand to meet her.

When Carol arrived in Chicago from Las Vegas after a bus ride of three days and two nights, she calmly read stories to her three dolls until attendants at the bus depot found her. They called police when they learned her plight.

Carol had $2 and two letters. One letter was from her mother, one from her aunt who put her on the bus in Las Vegas. Both identified her. Police took Carol to the juvenile home to wait until her parents arrived.

Later Monday the parents called Chicago police, explaining they had just received a telegram from Carol's aunt giving the girl's arrival time. Reassured by police, the Bergs drove to Chicago and collected their daughter and her three dolls.

Motorist and Youth Settle Trial With Ice Cream Soda

NEW YORK—Clarence A. Powell obeyed an impulse entertained hundreds of times by motorists throughout the country. He shook and slapped a little boy who threw a rock at his automobile.

Powell was driving down the street when five-year-old Ronnie Evans threw the stone. After the shaking, Powell was haled into court by the boy's mother.

Magistrate Edward Thompson ruled that a little boy couldn't know everything and besides punishment should be left to the boy's parents.

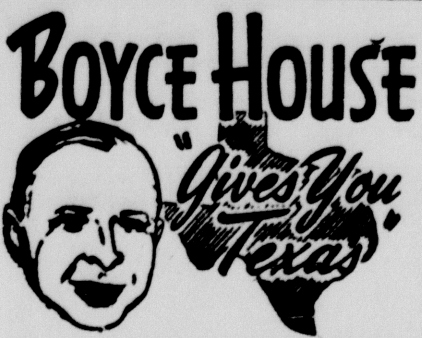

Mrs. Evans agreed. She had spanked the boy for throwing the stone.

But all's well that ends well. After a conference the magistrate decided the case could be settled with an ice cream soda.

He showed Ronnie the jail and told him that little boys would never have to stay there if they didn't throw stones. Then to Powell he said: "I'll tell you what we'll do. If you'll buy Ronnie a great big chocolate ice cream soda we'll forget the whole thing."

Powell agreed and he and Ronnie went down the court house steps hand-in-hand.

North Korea said to have ample oil for invasion.

Texas once had a conflict known as the "Archives War"—and one of the leaders was a woman. It was in the days of the Texas Republic.

From Washington-on-the-Brazos, President Sam Houston wrote to Land Commissioner Ward, directing him to remove the archives—the records of the Land Office, stating:

"They are certainly in a very precarious and unsafe situation. What the Mexicans or Indians might not do, I am led to believe from various threats that have reached my ears might be accomplished by the irresponsible, unprincipled and lawless among our citizens. I am told that their destruction by fire has been frequently denounced by some of those opposed to their removal. Such an event would produce not only incalculable but irreparable injury to the people of Texas which must not, if possible, be permitted."

As President Houston's letter indicated, Austin citizens already had heard of the contemplated removal and they felt that, once the records were taken away, they might never be returned and that some other city would become the capital of Texas.

Land Commissioner Ward turned the boxes containing the Land Office records over to the officials whom Houston sent. But that was by no means the end of the matter for Ward reported:

"Much excitement prevailed here; a howitzer loaded with grape was discharged at my residence after I had heard the cry, 'Blow the old house to pieces'; eight volleys perforated the building and, had the mob continued their fire, I could not answer for the consequence as I undoubtedly should have defended myself to the last."

"The wagons took the upper route by Kinney's because the people living on Brushy not being as violent against the removal as those living below or on the road to Bastrop; and to prevent violence to the papers, I sent two of the Land Office clerks in charge of them to take special care of the boxes and their contents."

His report continues: "The archives were forcibly taken from them and lodged in Mrs. Eberly's house, since which the boxes have been removed to a house on Pecan Street."

This incident is known in Texas history as the Archives War. For months, the records were stored in boxes and kept in a private home in Austin, then were returned to the Land Office, and so ended one of the most interesting incidents in the history of that romantic, old State department.

Prices paid by farmers for goods and services and for farm production items increased about half of one per cent in the same period.

Sorry Plight in Defense Shown Up by Ben Guill

By BEN GUILL
Member of Congress

The single question has been asked me more than any other by the people back home recently has been: "Where has all our defense money gone?"

I've done a little research on the answer.

During the last five years, Uncle Sam has spent $96 billions on defense. However, $45 billions of that was spent in 1946 before demobilization was complete and much of the money appropriated that year went into terminal leave and other benefits. I think the more fair figure is $50 billions spent on defense since 1946.

Out of every dollar we have spent for defense during the last four years, 65 cents went for salaries, clothing, food and housing for our military manpower.

Out of every dollar, 20 cents went for research, administrative work and maintenance of the National Guard and Reserve.

And, out of every dollar spent for national defense, only 15 cents went to procure weapons, ships and planes.

The smallness of the last figure shows why we had not bought a single tank since the war ended. This policy was followed despite the fact that we knew by our experience in World War II that Russian tanks were far superior to our own, and we knew from our intelligence sources that Russia was making tanks furiously in preparation for war. Russia now has 40,000 tanks, more than 7 times our total.

The fact that we spent less than 15 per cent of our defense money on equipment and weapons also explains the fact that on Korea Day our airplane production was far less than one-third of what it was on Pearl Harbor Day nine years ago. And we thought we were caught asleep at the switch then.

As a matter of fact, Washington is still asleep at the switch, because there are too many people here who cannot think and plan without an eye to political advantages. A General in the Pentagon told me earlier in the week that the Army can't plan intelligently for the future or take the measures that should be taken until the powers that be decide that this war is a great deal more important than the November election.

Personally, I think that anybody who can't rise above politics and party loyalties in the face of this crisis should be kicked off Capitol Hill. If ever we needed non-partisan and unselfish co-operation among all Americans, it is now. If we can't be plain, solid Americans together now instead of merely Republicans and Democrats, then we deserve to be beaten by the Russians.

The Natural Resources Board was set up five years ago to draw the blue prints for definite plans by which this country could be placed on a full mobilization status at a moment's notice. John Steelman was part-time chairman and, since the job is a full-time job, and then some, nothing constructive was done. Then two precious years were wasted in an unsuccessful political fight to get Mon Wallgren, former Governor of Washington and close friend of President Truman, appointed as chairman. The Board had no real head during these years. Finally, Stuart Symington was recently appointed chairman, after he resigned from his position of Under Secretary for Air because of his disagreement with the policies of Defense Secretary Louis Johnson.

At a meeting of representatives of the metal and mining industries last week, officials of the Natural Resources Board admitted that they had no plan, they had very little idea of what was needed, they had almost no conception of what industry would have to do.

Mr. Symington is considered a very able administrator here in Washington. The sorry condition of our defense preparation is due to no fault of his own. But Mr. Symington has had to start from scratch when the original reason for the Board was to have fool-proof mobilization plans worked out in advance. After five years of planning, all Mr. Symington should have had to do was to push a button. It turns out that he hasn't even got the push-button, let alone the blueprints for action.

And here's how serious it is. It was Mr. Symington himself who announced to the Texas delegation at luncheon a short while ago that "if Russia were to attack us today we would find ourselves in a desperate situation."

Week-end visitors in the home of Mrs. W. A. Jennings were Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Hill and daughter of Spearman Jean of New York and Dallas. Jean attends Juilliard School of Music during the winter and plays a violin in the Dallas Symphony during the summer. Her mother will be remembered as Ruth Jennings.

Among the Canyon people who attended the reception in honor of the Golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ponds in Borger Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Trout and Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Davis.

His Name in Deep Black

Judas, the traitorous, perfidious, faithless Apostle who, under the semblance of friendship, betrayed Christ. How many good, sound, fair appearing persons do you have on your friendship list who are not friends at all but are worthless, deceptive characters ... not to be trusted. How many Judases do you know?

What a chance this man had for greatness! What an opportunity for service to a world in urgent need! One of twelve to walk with the Son of God along life's pathway! What would we not give for his opportunity to do and to be! But Judas "blacked out." He failed and wrote his own name in "DEEP BLACK" across the pages of history for all time. He preferred thirty pieces of silver to the fellowship and blessing of Jesus; he failed to appreciate beauty and goodness and gracious companionship with the highest. His "sights" were low ... his interests selfish.

Other men counted it an honor to carry a cross for the Master; JUDAS sent Him to Calvary to die in shameful agony. JUDAS might have followed Christ to the end and shared a martyr's death, but he preferred a disgraceful grave in the field of the nameless or shameless dead.

We have but one life to live, and that one life is too precious to be wasted. "What shall it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his life?" What is it to lose? What is it to gain? Jesus was thought to have lost, but in that self-sacrifice He saved a world of dying men. This man Judas gloated over his gain, but generations have wept for him as a lost soul. Are you and I really winning, or are we losing? Truly we have but one life to give ... shall we not write it credibly on the pages of history for ourselves and for humanity? Shall we not hold it high for the service of men and for the worship of God? Attend your church; be faithful. Don't be a JUDAS.

Broken Cables On Sea Bottom Quarry of Ship

NEW YORK — Chasing down breaks in telephone and telegraph cable, at times as much as three miles below the surface of the sea, is the job of the steamship All America which pulled in to New York recently for supplies.

Capt. Frederick Hack, the skipper, reports all kinds of things can happen when the ship is looking for a break.

One time, for instance, they sighted a big sperm whale thrashing on the surface, with three turns of weighty cable coiled around his body.

"He apparently had been feeding along the bottom at 400 fathoms and run into our cable," Capt. Hack said. "A whale can't reverse and he kept pushing ahead and finally choked himself and drowned."

Locates Break

Communication stations detect a mishap to the cable and start a series of intricate electrical tests to determine whether it is a break or a flaw. They run down its location with uncanny accuracy.

Then the All America heads for the spot and usually hits it within a half mile. The ship then begins a series of right angle dragging runs with various types of grapplings.

"Sometimes it's pretty deep," the captain said. "The deepest I've worked is about three miles. You can rarely pull it up without a break as you'd be lifting cable for 20 miles along the line. It breaks 90 per cent of the time."

The repair experts pay out cable at four to six knots, pick it up, or drag at a mile an hour with the almost rigid wire rope by using a series of "sheaves" which are really heavy pulleys strung in tandem along the foredeck. A six foot drum hauls or pays out the lines which style. In a storm, work ceases after the broken ends are attached to buoys.

Capt. Hack said that "you never know when a cable will go." Some lines lie on the bottom for 50 to 60 years without needing attention, while others develop repair needs a month after laying, due to damage or flaws.

Carries Miles of Cable

Corrosion, teredos that bore like sea going termites, chafing, imperfect manufacture—all are contributing causes.

The ship carries red leaded marker buoys, 20 miles of wire rope of 18 ton strength, miles of heavy armored cable of three dimensions for different water depths, and a weird assortment of grapnels.

Under the main deck are wells into which the cable is coiled—300 miles of it when the vessel is fully loaded.

Marine Warrant Officer Wins Annual Pistol Meet

QUANTICO, Va.—Mark W. Billings, marine warrant officer, recently set a national record in the .45 caliber national match course during the annual pistol tourney held at Harrisburg, Pa.

Billings scored a 295 out of a possible 300 without scoring any out of the nine ring to take the record established by Major Harry Reeves, a Detroit policeman. Reeves allowed two hits in the eight ring in his firing for the record.

In addition to the record, Billings took first in the .38 caliber timed fire with a possible 200 and the .22 caliber rapid fire match. He also took second place in the .38 caliber aggregate, scoring 856.

Billings is the present holder of the Lauchheimer trophy that is annually fired for in all-Marine Corps rifle and pistol competition. The trophy goes to the marine who fires the highest aggregate score of rifle and pistol.

Americans Neglect Their Teeth, Survey Reveals

PRINCETON, N. J.—Americans are neglecting their teeth, a national survey has revealed.

According to the survey almost one adult in every two, or more than 45 million people, have not been to a dentist within the past two years, and some 30 million of these have not been in over four years.

And believe it or not, about 4,000,000 of these adults have never been to the dentist, the survey reports.

As for going to a medical doctor, 29 per cent of adults, or about 28,000,000 people, have not done that in the past two years. The survey showed a higher proportion of women than of men visiting a doctor or dentist within recent months.

A higher proportion of men than of women have stayed away from doctors for four years or more.

Cab Driver Rewarded $1 For Returning $1,000

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Honesty must be its own reward—so believes James Young, a cab driver. Young found a purse containing more than $1,000 a woman passenger left in the back seat of his cab.

His reward? One dollar, less the sixty cents it cost him to drive out to return the purse.

Physical Exams For School Age Children Needed

Austin: Parents, has your child had a physical examination this summer? Next month he will be starting to school, and if he is in good health he will have a happier, more profitable year. It's up to YOU to give HIM a healthful send-off, Says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

After he has his check-up by the family doctor, be sure to take him to the family dentist. Teeth are mighty important, and decayed ones often cause a heap of trouble. They may start infection in other parts of the body. Strong, healthy teeth add attractiveness to appearance and personality. Help your child to grow up with good teeth... see that he has a dental examination twice a year.

Sometimes children need glasses and their parents don't realize it. An examination by an eye specialist is important. A child who needs glasses, if taken to an eye physician now, will have time to get used to them before school starts.

When children are grouped together in a classroom, they expose each other to communicable diseases. Has your child been immunized against diphtheria and smallpox? Does he know he should use only his own drinking glass? Does he know he should avoid boys and girls who are victims of colds? Do you keep your child home when he shows signs of a cold?

Plenty of exercise and recreation, the right kinds of foods daily, and 12 hours of sleep a night, are necessary for a child of elementary school age.

Get your child an appointment for a check-up today... the first day of school is not far away!
